INTRODUCTION TO THE COMPANY

During my PCTO , I had my school work experience at APRA S.p.A. an important company in Jesi, operating in the IT and digital services sector.

APRA focuses on software development, information systems management, and technology solutions for businesses and public administrations, offering technical support and IT consulting. Has a consolidated presence on the national market and is part of the Var Group S.p.A. group.

The internship took place in two distinct periods:

May 17 to June 8, 2025

September 1 to 22, 2025

ORGANIZATION AND FIRST IMPRESSION

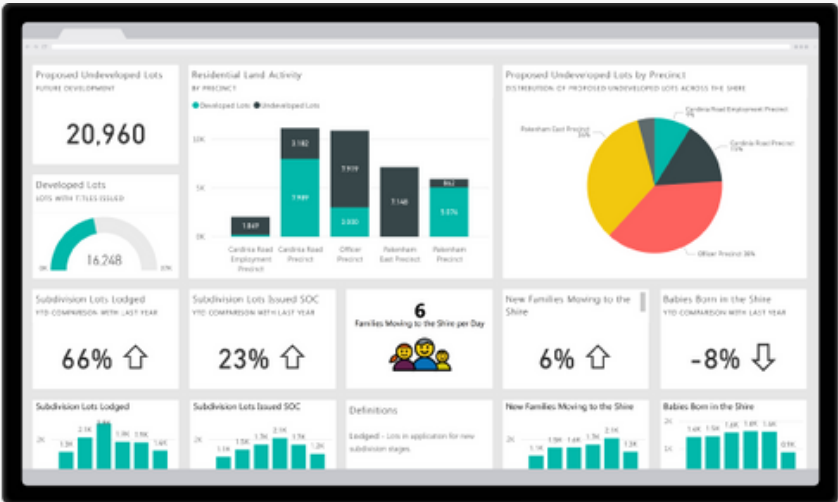

During my internship, I had the opportunity to tour all the company's departments, closely observing the various processes and operating methods.

I got along very well with the people, who were always available and welcoming, creating a stimulating and collaborative work environment.

My first impression of the company was positive: professional and organized.

EXPERIENCE IN DIFFERENT DEPARTMENTS

HELP DESK

1

During my time in the Help Desk department, I helped with customer support and watched how operators solved real problems, like those at Goldengas. I learned how they manage time and fix issues using ticket systems and support tools.

BUSINESS INTELLIGENCE (BI)

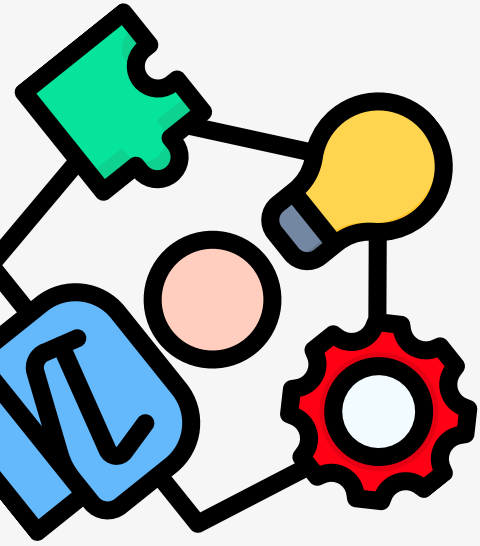

2

In the Business Intelligence department, I learned how to use Power BI to collect and study company data. I saw how this information helps the company make better decisions.

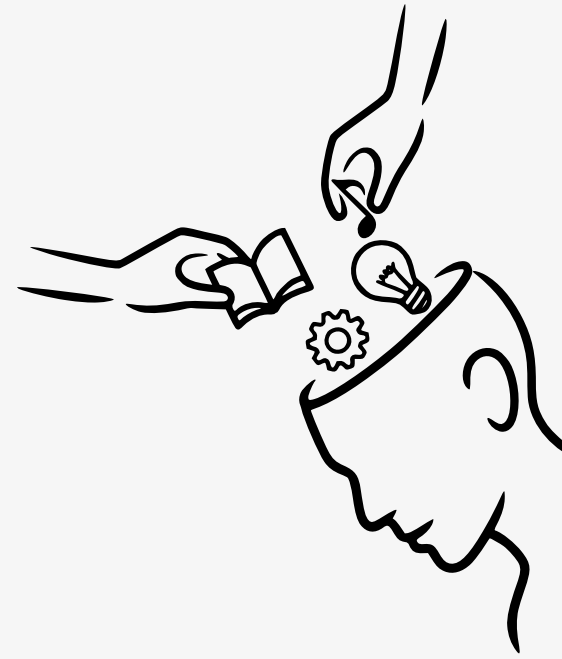

I-WINE

3

The i-Wine department is very important for APRA and is seen as the heart of the company. I used the Essenzia software to manage daily work and watched a programmer use Omnis to fix problems and add new features. This helped me understand how the team works with skill and passion.

ABILITY AND INDEPENDENCE AT WORK

During my time interning at APRA, I got the hang of managing various tasks while sticking to deadlines and following instructions. I even took on smaller tasks independently, like watching and noting down procedures, analyzing data, and using the software that different departments introduced. This whole experience really boosted my focus, sense of responsibility, and my ability to keep my work organized.

WORKING TOGETHER

During my internship at APRA, I had several opportunities to work alongside colleagues and mentors. I learned to communicate clearly and collaborate to complete assigned tasks, such as updating an application by sharing ideas and observations. Teamwork allowed me to better understand company processes, solve problems more quickly, and achieve results I wouldn't have been able to achieve alone. This experience taught me the importance of teamwork.

SELF-DISCOVERY AND LEARNING

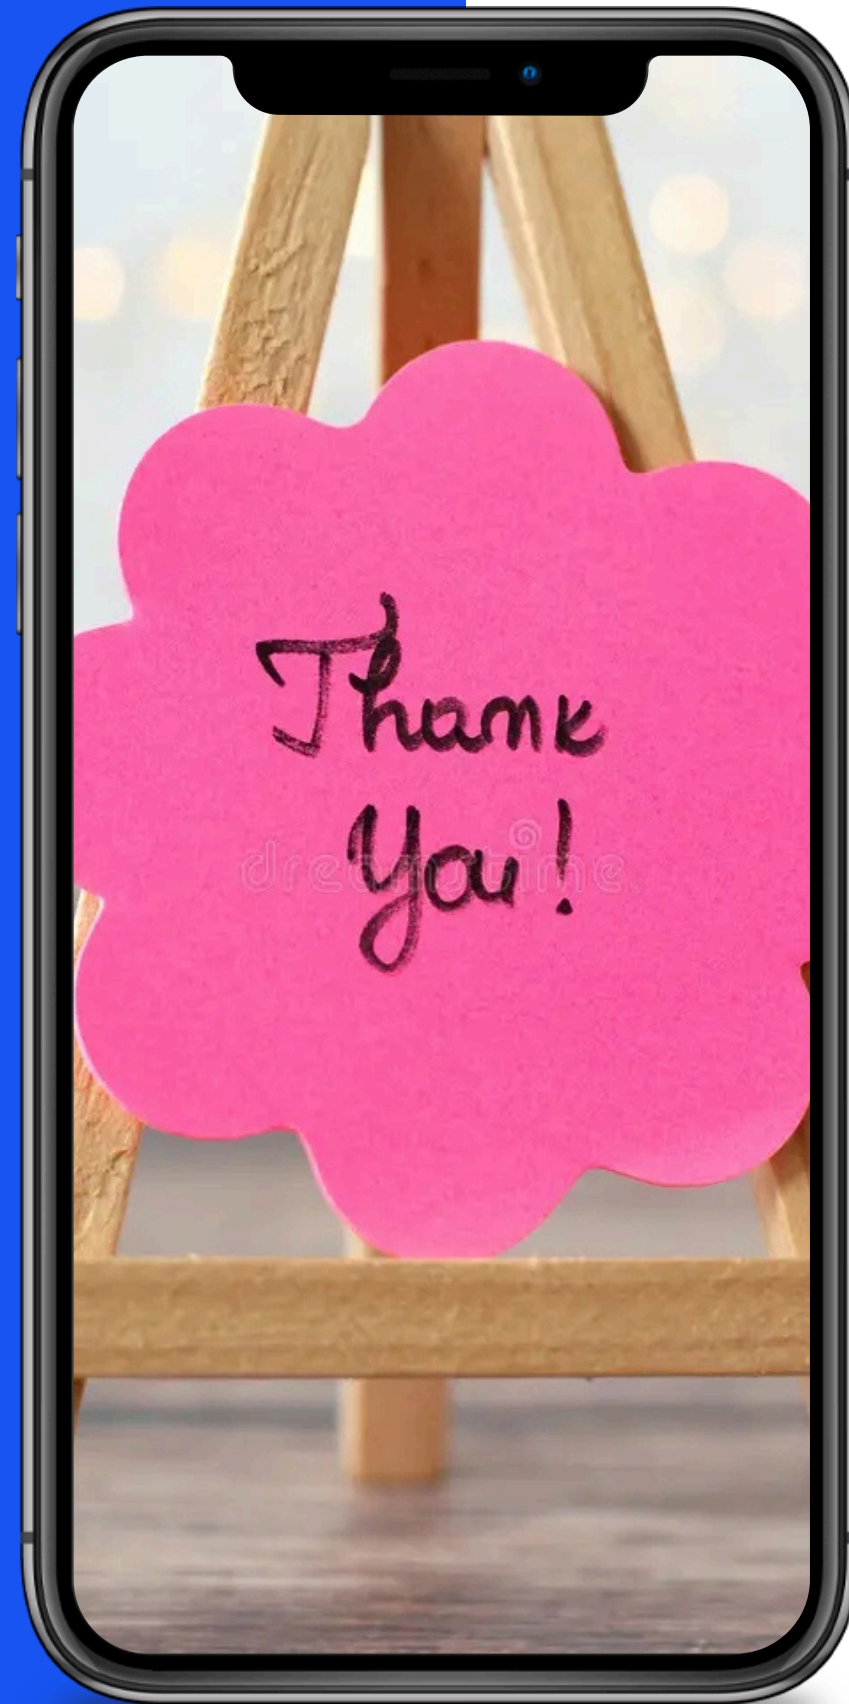

This experience has had a great impact on my thinking about work because I was able to understand that working in an office is not for me, but rather doing manual work such as plumbing. PCTO also taught me that everyone in a company has a very great responsibility for themselves, even if in reality it is not like that.

OVERCOMING DIFFICULTIES

The biggest difficulties during work school were the working hours because they were not needed to do what was assigned and then at the beginning it was difficult to learn for example new coding languages which were then learned together with colleagues who had been using it for a long time.

RELATIONSHIPS AND CONCLUSION

Throughout the internship, I got along very well with everyone at the company. The work environment was calm and welcoming, and everyone was always available to provide help and explanations. I appreciated the availability of the company and school tutors, who guided and supported me through every phase of the assigned tasks. This experience allowed me to better understand how a real company works, improve my practical and interpersonal skills, and reflect on how to work collaboratively and responsibly.

Thank you to all the staff at APRA for their support and guidance during my internship.
